STUDENT HANDBOOK

2022 2023

FOREWORD

The University of Dallas is an equal opportunity, co-educational and Catholic institution of higher learning. It is open to students and faculty of all faiths and does not discriminate in admissions or employment on the basis of race, color, sex, age, handicap, or national origin. Every effort has been made to include in this handbook information that, at the time of printing, most accurately and pertinently represents the Master's programs. However, the provisions of this handbook are subject to change by the University without notice and do not constitute a contract between any student and the University of Dallas.

As a private institution the University explicitly reserves the right to judge whether it is in the best interests of the institution that a student be allowed to continue affiliation and may, for reasons deemed sufficient by the University itself, discontinue affiliation. By registering, the student concedes to the University the right to require withdrawal whenever it deems withdrawal necessary.

Students are responsible for familiarizing themselves with all policies and for complying with all procedures in this Handbook, the current University Bulletin, and the current University of Dallas Student Handbook. The Student Handbook may be obtained from the Office of Student Life, Haggar Center.

MISSION

Any extensions to the limit must be formally requested of and granted by the Graduate Dean. Students who have not completed requirements within the time limit will be withdrawn from the program.

Grade Point Average (GPA)

No course for which a grade lower than C (2.00) is earned will satisfy program degree requirements.

A minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.00 is required for graduation . (A minimum of 2.7 is required to earn the Catholic Teacher Certificate.) In courses in which a grade lower than C (2.00) is given, the grade will count for determining the grade point average but will not satisfy course requirements. Only grades for required course work will be figured in determining the GPA graduation requirement. However, all grades received in approved prerequisite course work will be figured in determining GPA levels for both scholarship continuance and eligibility to continue in a given program.

Comprehensive Examinations

Comprehensive Examinations cannot be administered before the student has completed all required course work with a cumulative grade point average of 3.00. The exam should be taken by the end of the semester following the satisfactory completion of all course requirements. Students must enroll in a Comprehensive Exam course through their Graduate Director at the beginning of the semester in which they will take the exam.

Language Requirement

Students must submit a Foreign Language Requirement Approval Form to the Braniff Graduate Office before attempting to satisfy the language requirement through any means. They may fulfill the language requirement in one of four ways.

1) Through coursework:

- a) Take the Reading Knowledge sequence in German, French, or Italian, i.e. MCTF or MCTG 5311 and 5312 or MCTI 5338 and 5339 and pass the second course with a grade of B (3.0) or higher. If you already have some proficiency in these languages, you may take only the second course. Note that these courses are recorded on your transcript, but not typically counted for graduate credit.
- b) Complete the UD undergraduate language sequence in the language, including First-Year and Second-Year courses.
- c) By taking an upper level (3000+) course (other than the special reading courses) at the University of Dallas in the literature of the language in question and by passing with a grade of B (3.0) or better. Students from the University of Dallas may fulfill the requirement with the approval of the Classics Department with such a course taken at the University

2) In the Modern Languages, by taking and passing a written translation exam. Students can express a preference for the area or author in or on which they would prefer to be tested, but the Modern Languages Department will make the choice of the work and the passages to be included.

3) In the classical languages only, by passing an examination prepared by the Classics Department a primary consent of the Graduate Director and the Graduate Dean, will choose a portion of approximately 500 lines or 5000 words in a text in classical Greek or Latin. The Classics Department will create an exam from this text, asking the student, for example, to identify the syntax of underlined words.

4) In the M.A. Theology program only, students may, with the approval of the Program Director, satisfy the requirement by both submitting an exact translation in fluent English of a 12-15-page excerpt from previously untranslated material pertinent to the student's work and passing an oral examination in the grammar and content of the translation.

It is possible for remote students, with the agreement of the relevant Department, to take a language examination with a proctor.

In some cases, where the student's thesis requires proficiency in a language other than the normal five (for example, in dealing with Cervantes or Dostoevsky), another modern language may be substituted for German, French, or Italian. No one is allowed to do a thesis on a topic whose major texts are in a language in which the student has not attained reading proficiency.

The Foreign Language Requirement Approval Form requires the approval of the Program Director and Graduate Dean, and, if applicable, the language examiner.

All grades earned for foreign language courses at the 1000 to 3000 levels will be recorded on the transcript but will not be included in determining the grade point average. 3000-level courses can be cross-listed as graduate courses. Only language courses at the 5000 level or above, not including Reading Knowledge courses, may be counted for course credit towards a graduate degree.

Master of Arts Thesis

The M.A. student must complete all course work (with a GPA of at least 3.0), the comprehensive examination, and fulfill the language requirement before enrolling in the six-credit hour Thesis Research course.

Before registering for the Thesis Research course, submit a Master's Thesis Proposal Approval form
